

PRESIDENT GOES BEFORE CONGRESS

Score of Subjects Are Dealt With In His Message

Executive Tells Congress Prohibition Is Here to Stay and He Proposed Conference of Governors With View to Better Enforcement Proposed New Alien Laws, Railways and Child Labor Touched Upon.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Harding, in his annual message delivered to Congress in person today deals with almost a score of subjects, chief among them, prohibition, farm credit, the transportation problem, child labor and immigration.

The executive announces his purpose to invite governors of the states and territories to an early conference with the federal executive authorities with a view to adopting definite policies of national and state co-operation in administering the prohibition laws.

He says the day is unlikely to come when the prohibition amendment will be repealed and that the nation should adopt its course accordingly. President Harding tells Congress that if the state provisions for prohibition enforcement are contrary to deliberate public opinion, which he does not believe, that literal enforcement will concentrate attention on any requisite modifications. "Such a course," he adds, "conforms with the law and saves the humiliation of the government and the humiliation of our people before the world and challenges the destructive forces engaged in widespread violation of official correction and individual a demoralization."

With the regard to the transportation problem President Harding urged that the Railway Labor Board be abolished with the substitution of a labor division in the Interstate Commerce Commission with ample power to require its rulings to be accepted by both parties to a disputed question.

The executive also proposes that the law require the carriers and their employees to institute means and methods to negotiate between themselves their constantly arising differences, limiting appeals to the government.

The co-ordinating of all transportation facilities is urged including inland waterways and motor truck transportation. He inquires against the system of paralleling the railway with truck roads instead of making the motor trucks feeders for them. As to the carriers themselves, Mr. Harding suggests that in finding ways of increasing economy and efficiency there be a merger of the lines into systems, interchange of freight cars, the consolidation of the facilities and the economic use of the terminals.

More extended credit for the farmers is strongly urged by the executive who declares that the very proof of the help already given is the strongest argument for the permanent establishment of widened credits. He says the Farm Loan Bureau may well have its powers enlarged to provide ample farm production credits as well as enlarged land credits.

Two constitutional amendments are proposed.

One would give Congress authority over child labor and the other would restrict the issue of the tax exempt securities which are declared to be keeping up the sources of the federal taxation and encouraging unproductive and extravagant expenditures by states and municipalities.

The president urges legislation providing for the registration of aliens who have come to America and for a more rigid examination of immigrants at points of departure. Registration the president says, will enable the country to guard against abuses in immigration and facilitate the Americanizing of those who remain to stay as fellow citizens.

The president says there is a "recrudescence of hyphenated-Americanism which we thought to have stamped out when we committed the nation's life and soul to the world war." He adds that advocates of revolution are abusing the hospitality of America's shores counting their devoted followers among those who take on the habits of an American without knowing. Dealing with foreign affairs, the president tells Congress that American relations are not only free from every threatening cloud but the country had contributed its large influence towards making armed conflict less likely.

Is Burned Out

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 9.—The business district of Astoria was laid in ruins by a fire which broke out shortly after two o'clock today and despite efforts of the fire department and reinforcements from Portland swept 27 blocks causing a loss estimated at between $19,000,000 and $15,000,000.

At eight o'clock the fire had swept over 27 blocks and the flames had eaten under the pavement on Commerce street burning the pill on which the city was built and firemen were unable to cope with this development.

Patients were removed from St. Mary's Hospital, all the windows of which were shattered by explosions of dynamite or gas-line tanks. One life was lost according to reports available at eight o'clock. Morris Stables, automobile dealer and president of the Astoria Bank of Commerce dropped dead. Two other business men who were missing and believed dead later were accounted for.

H. M. Keck Wins the String Of Pearls

To H. M. Keck goes the string of pearls for guessing the time the log candle burned in a Main street window advertising a moving picture recently shown here. Mr. Keck came nearest to guessing the burning capacity of the candle which was placed before the picture of a screen that was actually burned for 158 hours, 50 minutes and 10 seconds, according to the official count. Keck missed the figure by 23 minutes, while Mrs. R. Bruce McKee, who won a thirty day pass to a local theatre, gave the second best guess, missing it by 44 minutes.

All manner of guesses were submitted said J. C. Hester today. They ranged from 30 days to eight hours.

DANVILLE MAN IN FLORIDA

Percy Anderson formerly of this city, but now engaged in the real estate business at Miami, Fla., has written to friends here stating that the weather there is so warm that Palm Beach suits, white shoes and straw hats are the regulation mode for male attire. He writes that the season is just beginning and that it is hard to realize that it is December in the warm sunshine and with blooming flowers and shrubs to be seen on every side.

Reported Effort To Rob Children
Of Their Savings

A reported effort to break into Robert E. Lee School apparently for the purpose of robbing one of the automatic receiving officers which have been placed in all of the city schools by the Commercial bank, has come to light. The vigilance of the school property probably prevented an actual robbery. Mr. Patterson, who lives in the school house, heard what he took to be the sound of somebody trying to break into the school house. He hastened to the school entrance, the hour then being late and he reports that three grown boys fled from the door and jumping into an automobile, drove rapidly away. Examination of the door showed that it had been broken, also a window and it is surmised that the visit to the school was prompted by a desire to break into the teller and removing the mites placed there by school children who are being taught something of the benefits of saving by this novel method. The boys who fled were not identified, it is said.

At the Commercial bank today it was said that the receiving tellers are being well patronized and that the innovation is proving quite a success. Between $50 and $60 is deposited each day in the tellers which are visited daily and the amounts taken are credited to the various savings accounts in the bank.

Bogus Checks Given Concerns

Police officers were today looking for an alleged check forger, who passed worthless papers for $200 furniture concerns here, each for about $10. The concerns on discovering that the checks were no good, notified the police, but no clue has been learned this afternoon. The stores, which were the victims of the worthless checks were John W. Graves Co. and Clements, Chism & Parker.

In each case a man entered the store, selected a piece of furniture, asked that he be sent to a certain address and presented a check for $10, receiving the change in currency which both times was about $40, it was said. When the goods were sent out, no such addresses could be found. This caused proprietors of the concerns to investigate and find that the checks were no good. Chief of Police Bell knew little about the case, meaning stating that he did not remember the exact amount or whose names were signed on the check.

Court Question
To Be Discussed
By Bar Association

At the next meeting of the Bar association which will be held probably next week, discussion is expected to be heard on the question of once more changing the time for holding terms of the corporation court. Some years ago the quarterly session plan gave way to the holding of court every month which was used as an experiment. Now it is learned, there is sentiment whether pronounced or not remains to be seen, favoring reversion back to the old quarterly method. At the present time, it is said, all of the time with rarely more than a week's status between the end of one term and the beginning of another. This has resulted in a multiplication of the duties of the clerk of the court and the force in that office so heavily involved in work that the potential of working sometimes with one delay in the morning. The writing of new laws on the statute books and the regulation of new formidable reports, together with the large increase in the granting of wedding licenses to be held in the corporation court, have come into Virginia to stand the issue of the new drastic regulations laid down in that State before the marriage can be entered into, are factors supplementing the work of the office.

The suggestion made is that the court order specify terms for the corporation court, and to maintain a separate docket for these cases, in order to expedite the criminal and civil decisions of these numerous cases. Both of the decisions are continually crowded up with later cases. Appeals from the police court decisions on the city liquor ordinance had their way on to each docket, although they are properly speaking criminal cases and automobile forfeiture proceedings which take time and require a good deal of work, are continually crowding up.

It is expected that the whole question of courts will be discussed in detail with attorneys expressing their viewpoint and with the clerk of the court and the judge himself entering into the discussions.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 8.—Responding to an anonymous telephone call today, Patterson police found the body of Miss Evelyn Mabel Rainbow, a concert singer, on the floor in the basement of her home. The jury was discharged.

The men have been found guilty three times in police court within two months and noted appeals. They were represented by three lawyers in today's trial. Most of the jury favored acquittal.

Spray Is Menaced By Serious Fire

Storage Warehouse Is Gutted by Blaze Which Threatens a Department Store.

(Special to The Bee)
SPRAY, N. C., Dec. 8.—Fire which last night destroyed a two-story frame storage building here with an estimated loss of $70,000 was still burning this morning although the fire was not considered to be menacing a quantity of cotton owned by the Standard Oil company was still in place in the ruins and it was expected that it would continue to smolder and to burn for the rest of the day.

The fire which broke out at about half past nine o'clock resulted in the calling of the Reidsville, N. C. fire department which responded with alacrity. At that time it was feared that the Spray Mercantile company's plant adjoining the storage warehouse would become ignited. The local department supplemented by the mill's fire fighting organization fought the fire and some little damage was suffered by the mercantile establishment from water.

The fire is believed to have started in the oil tanks which when once they leaped into flame quickly ignited the entire building which is two stories high and with a frontage of 55 feet and a depth of about 100 feet. At one time it looked as though the fire would rapidly become a big disaster and it was then that the call for assistance to Reidsville was sent.

A stock company owned the storage warehouse which is said to be indemnified by insurance. Some of the stockholders are E. F. Mebane, William Walker and R. P. Wray.

Seize Car and Eighty Gallons Near Brosville

Schoolfield police officers yesterday afternoon captured eighty gallons of corn whiskey near Brosville, and are today looking for the owners of the liquor, whom they say they know. Forty gallons of the booze were found in a Chevrolet automobile and the remaining forty gallons at a point not far from the machine. The officers claim they know the liquor belongs to a man who they managed to escape before the officers had a chance to capture them. The machine and whiskey were taken charge of and brought to Danville. Officers who made the haul were Chief of Police Colos J. E. Rice and Jess Benton.

N. Y. Hippodrome May Become Hotel

Department Store or Perhaps Hotel Planned in World's Biggest Theatre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Reports that the New York Hippodrome, world's largest playhouse, known to enter-tainment seekers of every land, is nearing the end of its unique career, were revived yesterday by insistent rumors that the big building would give place either to a department store or a hotel at the close of the present season.

The Hippodrome's present season will not be interrupted. Nothing will be done until after "Better Times," now running there, under direction of Charles B. Dillingham, has completed its season, which will not be before the early summer.

H. O. Winsor, vice-president of the United States Realty and Improvement company, refused to deny reports of negotiations under way looking toward a change in the status of the big building now devoted to spectacular productions possible in no other theatre. The site and building are owned by the 43d Street Realty company, a subsidiary of the United States Realty and Improvement company.

"There is nothing definite I can say at this time," Mr. Winsor said. "We are in the real estate business, and it is safe to say that eventually such a valuable site as that of the Hippodrome will be devoted to some other purpose."

"Just what the other purpose will be, or when, I will not discuss now. From a business point of view I do not think the matter should be given publicity now."

The Hippodrome site, 20 feet 10 inches on Sixth avenue from 43d to 44th streets, and extending back 240 feet is one of the most valuable, as well as one of the largest, single pieces of real estate in that section.

In the 1922 tax rolls the land is assessed at $1,870,000. Building and land together are assessed at $2,400,000.

Offered Gunman To Kill Husband

Detective, Posing as Criminal, Files Charges Against
Mrs. May Ford, of Detroit.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

DETROIT, Dec. 8.—Mrs. May Glenn Ford solicited the services of a gunman to kill her wealthy husband, Mr. J. Ford, offered the gunman $20,000 for the "job" and gave him a photograph of her husband to make sure the right man was slain, according to the statements of four detectives whose investigation resulted in Mrs. Ford's detention today on a charge of attempting to commit murder.

Denying the charge, Mrs. Ford declared she was the victim of a "frame up" and spoke of marital difficulties. These include a suit for divorce filed August in which she charges cruelty and asking $25,000 damages of her estranged husband for alleged assault.

Mrs. Ford was arrested last night when, it is alleged she was about to meet Edward Kaunagh, a detective lieutenant for a second conference on her reported plans for the slaying of her husband.

The sleuth had posed as a Kansas City gunman Wednesday night when the alleged plot was first revealed by Mrs. Ford. Three sleuths claim to have overheard the conversation in which the woman is said to have gone over the details with Kaunagh.

Frieda Hempel's Home Is Robbed

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—When Frieda Hempel returned from a concert tour yesterday to her luxurious apartment home at No. 271 Central Park West, where she lives as Mrs. William B. Kahn, wife of the banker, she found burglars had preceded her by a dozen hours. The apartment had been ransacked from end to end and the previous evening and found silverware and jewelry valued at more than $25,000 taken.

Miss Hempel's most cherished belonging, a new chinchilla coat she brought back from Paris only five weeks ago and prized beyond its $10,000 monetary value, was among the loot. But Mr. Kahn's most cherished belonging, 200 cases of champagne, with an inestimable value these days, was not even sampled.

The robbery occurred some time Tuesday evening, while Mr. Kahn was dining out and Miss Hempel was singing one of her "Jenny Lind Concerts" in Syracuse.

The burglars evidently entered the apartment, which extends the entire length of the building on Central Park West from 87th street halfway to the next corner, from the roof of the adjacent structure. A window in the Kahn apartment, overlooking the roof of No. 275 and within comparatively easy reach of it, was found open.

With the exception of the coat, only valuables of small size were taken. Most of the loot consisted of fur pieces, silverware, some of it wedding plate and jewelry. That the robbery did not cause a much greater loss is attributed to the fact that a safe deposit box held most of the Kahns' heavy silver, while Miss Hempel was wearing her fine jewelry.

Mr. Kahn is a friend of Police Commissioner Enright and reported the robbery direct to him. Soon afterward Inspector Coghlan arrived with four detectives, but late last night no trace of the robbers had been found. It is believed they made off with their loot in suit cases, which they piled into a waiting automobile, but no one has been found who saw them.

Practically the entire loss is covered by insurance, but Miss Hempel will not have to freeze during the cold spell anyway, for she was wearing a valuable sable coat when she got off the train from Syracuse.

Taft Escapes Call In Daugherty Case

Committee Decides Justice Department Files Necessary to Probe.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Chief Justice Taft will not be subpoenaed to appear before the House Judiciary committee and testify in impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty.

It is the view of members of the Judiciary committee that the record in the alleged jury tampering case, which the advocates of impeachment assert is in the Department of Justice, would be all that was necessary to present in connection with the particular specification involved. Personal testimony would not throw any further light on the transaction, it is declared.

The committee yesterday named a subcommittee to regulate the procedure in the hearings which are scheduled to begin Tuesday. The subcommittee is composed of Chairman Volstead and Representatives Graham, of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Montague, Virginia, and Dominick, South Carolina, Democrats. All matters of detail, such as acting on applications for subpoenas and arranging with the opposite sides for the presentation of evidence, will be handled by the subcommittee.

This first decision as to procedure was that the hearings will follow a definite line. Each of the fourteen specifications submitted by Representative Keller will be taken up in order. Then if any testimony is offered in behalf of Attorney General Daugherty, it likewise will follow the same course.

Ex-Service Men's Vocational Training

Ex-service men and women of Virginia who desire vocational training and have not made application, are urged to do so at once, as under the present law the time limit expires December 15th, 1922.

Those who wait until after this date to make application will forfeit their right of receiving this government training. There are several ways in which this application for training may be made. The claimant may make application by writing a letter expressing a desire to apply for vocational training, to anyone of the Bureau of Vocational Training located throughout the United States. It is necessary for the applicant to sign his name so that the Bureau may consider the application as made by the man himself. It is advisable for the applicant to make his application in person at one of the district or sub-district offices of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, although this is not absolutely necessary. Application forms may be obtained from any one of the Bureau offices. These forms should be signed, filled out and forwarded to the nearest Veterans' Bureau office. If a person is so situated that he is unable to obtain one of these forms, a letter will be accepted as an application.

Where the post mark of the letter of application or the forms forwarded as an application show that it was made on or before December 15th, the application will be considered as where the man enters the office before the close of the working day on December 15th, the application will be considered. However, applications mailed later than this date will be too late and persons so applying will have lost the privilege of taking advantage of vocational training provided under this Act.

Persons who are in doubt as to whether or not they have a valid application on file should take steps immediately to ascertain from one of the offices of the Bureau the status of their applications. The Government is anxious that all ex-service men who are entitled to the benefits of this Act should take advantage of this opportunity. All applications received will have the fullest consideration and if the facts presented are sufficient to meet the provisions of the Rehabilitation Act, the claimant will be awarded such benefits as are provided under the Act.

New Clue In Hall-Mills Case

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Dec. 7.—Detective Fred A. Davis, Middlesex county detective, announced today he planned to question a New Brunswick banker whom he believes may have been an eye-witness to the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, on Sept. 14.

According to Davis, the banker whose name he declined to divulge has been mentioned in the case and has refused to confirm or deny the story that he was on the Phillips farm the night of the crime. Davis would not indicate why he wanted to question him further.

Mysterious Green Car.
According to detectives working on the case, the mysterious green car which Mrs. Jane Gibson said she saw on Derussery's lane the night of the murder, has been discovered. They asserted that while the banker mentioned today is not the owner of the machine, they declared he had an arrangement with the owner by which he could use it whenever he desired.

The investigators asserted they did not believe the banker actually had a part in the murders, but were of the belief that he had witnessed the actual shooting. They declared that his story would corroborate Mrs. Gibson's statement in many respects.

REGULATIONS TO BECOME EFFECTIVE ON JANUARY 1ST

The new rules and regulations adopted by the Danville Police Commissioners and which are to govern the entire police department, will not become effective before the New Year. It was learned today. The plan is to have the rules printed and to place copies in the hands of the officers while will be given time to digest them and become familiar with the provisions. It is more than likely that one or more meetings of the department will be held at which times the rules will be gone over carefully and elucidated.

THE VERDICT RESTS WITH THE PEOPLE.

The success of the Community Chest campaign which will close on Monday depends entirely upon the spirit in which the workers are met in their final and determined efforts to secure the budget for the eight local charitable organizations which have merged their appeal into one. This is the critical phase of the campaign. People of means and the scarred classes have been already approached and it remains now for the house-to-house canvass to yield the necessary seventeen thousand-dollar to be pledged to make the campaign a success.

The appeal of the Community Chest, what it means, where the money is going to has already been made as loud and as clearly as it was possible to do. It is like the evangelist who has preached his sermon and who has issued the call for converts, and is waiting for them to come forward. Danville's answer to the appeal will be given finally within the next three days. Its people will register their verdict on the question of whether they want the combined call of the eight organizations or whether they want to go back to the old-fashioned way of individual drives constantly recurring.

We believe that this is the sanest and the most efficacious way of meeting a community problem which at all times must be reckoned with. The poor and the unfortunate who are in need of kindly ministrations at the hands of society—we have them always with us and we cannot turn our backs upon them or in any way shift what has become a community responsibility well recognized. If these needs have to be catered to sooner or later who not let it be done in the way it is being done now with the minimum of expense and in a way which must be considered as the most thorough and the most business-like.

SPURNED LOVE.

Did you ever love any one and go through the anguish of not having your love returned? In all nature there is no suffering more bitter and diabolical than love spurned or love tolerated in a kindly spirit without being reciprocated.

Rejected love has agonized both sexes in all generations of the past. And it will continue agonizing as long as humanity peoples the earth.

About the finest thing that has ever come to our attention along this line is the experience of Rodger Dolan.

Forty years ago Rodger fell deeply in love with a girl of 18. She treated him kindly—promised to be a sister to him—but as for returning his love, that was impossible. She simply did not love him. And nothing could make her, for love is emotional, not guidable by the reason.

Rodger went through the torments. He pined, grew thin, moped, even hinted darkly at suicide. This latter worried his friends since it is no uncommon event for spurned love to attempt to extinguish itself in the supposed forgetfulness of death.

Then the girl began falling in love with another. This hearted some of fire on Rodger's head. He disappeared.

Forty years have slipped by. The other day, Rodger returned to the old home town. He tells what happened.

"I hunted up my old flame and called on her. And I got the shock of my life. This former sweetheart had mellowed with age. She had retained much of her girlish charm. But somehow she no longer appealed to me. It was like the burning of a beautiful bubble.

"I thought I'd over, back in my home room. And, do you know, I was actually glad that we hadn't married. She had changed. And so had I. When I loved her in youth she seemed to me the finest in creation. But all this had changed as the years rolled on. I adored her as a rose bud, but when it came to the blossom of maturity there were others that appealed to me more.

"I couldn't help but think, what a misfortune it would have been for both of us if I had won her for my bride. Inevitably, we would have drifted apart as we matured in opposite directions. This was true of me. I believe it is true of both sexes.

"What I really loved back yonder was, not this girl, but an intangible ideal that she seemed to fit. Time has showed me that I was mistaken, deluded. As she matured and aged, she fitted my ideal like a badly tailored suit of clothes fits my body.

"It cost me a lot of suffering. But I went on my lone way until finally I found another, my wife, who genuinely measured up to my ideal. The girl of my youth remains a sweet memory, but it was unquestionably a case of mistaken identity.

"What fools people are, to commit suicide or brood over love that is not reciprocated, when there are so many millions of other people in the world, and among them some one that will be more appealing. When the real one is met, love will be mutual."

"THE FIRST YEAR"

Coming To the Majestic after two Solid Years in New York

An announcement of much interest to Danville theatregoers is that made by the management of the Majestic Theatre to the effect that arrangements have been completed with John Golden for the presentation here on Friday, Dec. 15th, of the sensational New York success, "The First Year." No comedy of recent years have achieved the popularity of the untitled, tentious little piece of Frank Craven's as its run of two solid years in New York attests. It is one of the very few plays that will bear witnessing again and again, for its humor seems always as fresh and its laughter as spontaneous as upon its first representation. "The First Year" is a play about you and your wife, or about the grown-up boy and girl around the corner, and it is difficult to imagine the possibility of more laughs being crowded into three acts than Frank Craven has put into this highly amusing comedy. The cast, which is regarded as being exceptionally ideal, will be seen here, embracing as it does such eminent comedy players as Gregory Kelly, Ruth Gordon, John W. Ransome, Fanny Rice, Ray L. Royce, Tom J. Kelly, Edith Wright, Joseph Garvey and Joseph Belmont.

JONES-WILLIAMS

At the passage of Moffett Memorial Baptist church on Thursday afternoon, George H. Jones and Miss Grace E. Williams were united in marriage by the Rev. C. J. D. After a visit to Richmond and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in their native section.

MINISTERS REGRET TO LOSE DR. DUBOSE

At the meeting of the Ministerial Association of Danville, Va., on Monday the following resolutions were unanimously adopted by that body:

"We deeply regret to learn that our friend and fellow-laborer, Dr. Henry Wade Dubose, is shortly to leave our city for another field of labor.

"The severance of his relation to our Association is a distinct loss to us. We have enjoyed his fellowship and profited by his counsel.

"We wish him joy and success in the field to which he goes and assure him our prayers and constant interest."

DRAKES BRANCH, Dec. 8.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—A saw in the paper a day or so ago, where preaching was held at the Danville police headquarters. Not exactly preaching, perhaps, for we suppose the parson just dropped in on the force and made one of those nice, little extemporaneous talks which are always on tap. As Danville has a very respectable force it is not likely that any of the Cops were embarrassed; fact is that most of the beat-walkers go to Sunday-school and church regularly—and shine their buttons for the occasion. And yuh ought to hear 'em sing!

This is a very good idea, we think. What the country needs is more religion in business and more business in religion—and the police department is a good place to start.

Since "Salesman Sam" became a policeman on The Bee funny page he has been overworked, so we are going to introduce an Irish Cop next Monday to help out. "CASEY, THE COP," is on the way; he will ginger things up a-plenty!

We repeat, the COMMUNITY CHEST drive is going to be put over. Only $18,442 needed to round out the fund, and three days left in which to finish the job. If those who are holding back for one reason or another will loosen-up and be good sports the goal will be reached before Monday night. NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE!

Only 15 days 'til Christmas. Get right with Santa Claus, brother!

There is no policeman like an Irish policeman. Meet "CASEY, THE COP."

DEEP WATERS—NO. 23

MYRA TAKES HER FAREWELL

By Zoe Beckley

AFTER locking the door of his daughter's cabin, Barrett listened a moment, heard nothing within, and with eagerness to see Myra growing keener as he thought of Alice's attempt to thwart it, he climbed to the deck and scanned the rows of passengers in their chairs.

She was nowhere in sight. Systematically he searched in every possible place. No Myra. Her chair was there, her rug and book upon it, but no Myra. He was beginning to feel alarmed when he caught the blow of a scarlet scarf behind a windlass at the prow of the boat. He made his way between lifeboats, rafts and deck clutter to where Myra stood leaning on the rail, staring out over the gray sea.

She turned and in her face he saw the look of one who has been through a struggle and arrived at calm decision.

"Myra! I've hunted for you everywhere!"

"Well, Jack—I've been everywhere!" A grim little laugh pointed her words. "And at last I've found—myself."

He leaned beside her on the rail, slipping his arm through hers. "You mean—?"

"How's your daughter?" said Myra, turning slowly and meeting his searching gaze. "She was just misty with pain and with understanding."

"Why—she's all right. . . Myra, I've got to talk to you. And I want to apologize—"

Her eyes grew still softer. She shook her head, and with a little wistful smile, said, "No, you don't have to apologize, Jack. There is more important business in hand. I want to talk to you, my dear, and you must believe me when I say it is—fit."

She ran her finger along the rail, top to a sudden stop, as though to illustrate her thought and keep her purpose steady.

"No—don't interrupt. I must have my talk out. I never had much doubt, Jack, about the situation. Now I am confirmed in it and changing. Listen to me. I am wise, and I am right—dead right, old friend. You'll see it presently."

Smart Bags Make Attractive Presents

THE diligent needle-woman, looking about for unusual patterns and attractive designs for Christmas presents, will be pleased with these bags.

With time and patience she may make them of beaded silks—they are not so complicated as they look. The flat purse, dangling from the rack, is especially smart in black moire with cut steel beads.

Jet, cut steel, crystal and iridescent beads are the fashionable varieties, and moire, duvetyne and brocades are the preferred materials.

Bags for shopping, sewing or knitting are illustrated, too. These are made of heavy fabrics in plain colors and trimmed with designs in the simplest of embroidery stitches.

The center bag can be made striking with materials of contrasting colors.

The bag to the left offers an incredibly thin and sweet gazelle as its ornamentation.

Dancing elephants decorate the third.

There are countless other designs to be found in transfer patterns and art embroidery departments.

Religious Exercise!

THE TRIANGULAR HYPOTHESIS

Begin Here Today

The mysterious man. DERNBURG PASHA, citizen of the Turkish Empire, has been murdered in Paris and the Ottoman government demands reparation for his death.

M. JONQUELLE, greatest of French detectives, found that Dernburg met his death in the library of his home, his throat was slashed and the white squares in the checkered floor were spotted with blood—apparently the trail of the escaping assassin.

The Turk Envoy called on Mr. Jonquelle.

"What was Dernburg doing in Paris?" M. Jonquelle demanded.

Go on With the Story

CHAPTER II

THE Envoy's eyes narrowed. He looked at Jonquelle a moment as in a furtive inquiry.

"I do not," he said, "What was his mission in Paris, monsieur?"

"You will be surprised to learn it," continued the Prefect of Police. "Dernburg was undertaking to falsify a work of art. It was a very remarkable work of art, and one of value. The persons who originally produced this work of art expended a great sum of money, an almost incredible sum of money to perfect it. If one could falsify it successfully, one could make a fortune at the venture. Dernburg knew this. He had thought about it for a long time. He had conducted a great number of experiments. Finally he was satisfied that the thing could be successfully done, and he came here from Stantoul, took this abandoned house in the Faubourg St. Germain, brought with him his devices, and prepared to undertake the great thing which he had in mind. Then, monsieur, before the thing could be accomplished, the mysterious visitor appeared; and this morning Dernburg is dead."

It was evident that the Oriental was profoundly puzzled.

"I do not understand you, monsieur," he said. "You say that Dernburg Pasha had perfected a method by which he intended to falsify a work of art?"

"Then he was called upon by one who knew of this method and wished to rob him of it?"

"No, monsieur."

"Then by those to whom the original of the art belonged, and wished to prevent this falsification?"

"No, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police. "Dernburg Pasha's name remained in the library, blood-drops falling from the weapon on this drawing-room floor as he hastily crossed it, and the escape over the wall of the garden."

"But, monsieur," said the Prefect of Police, "where is the motive? The writers on the value of indicatory evidences, in the investigation of a criminal case, tell us that there should be time, opportunity and motive. The time, monsieur, and the opportunity are here, plainly indicated; but the motive? Where shall we look for that?"

The Oriental turned, as with an inspiration, in his chair.

"Why, monsieur," he said, "you spoke at considerable length upon the motive. You seemed to know it quite well. You concealed, as you have indicated, the somewhat mysterious evidence of it in your hand."

"Quite true, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police, "but you will observe that it is I who am familiar with this motive. It is I who have what you are pleased to call 'this concrete evidence' in my hand. And that brings me to an interesting hypothesis with three phases to be considered. Let us consider them, monsieur. I name them in the order in which they occur to me: first, monsieur, that I killed the man; second, that you killed him; and third, that the agency that killed Dernburg Pasha is no longer living in this world."

"YOU CANNOT MEAN THAT DERNBURG PASHA WAS MURDERED BY A DEAD MAN!"

"a point beyond my conclusions. Do we know that this midnight visitor is the assassin? We must consider the evidences as they are presented to us."

"The evidences are conclusive of this fact," replied the Envoy. "If circumstantial evidences can ever be conclusive of a murder, here is the opportunity. In the drawing room, the dead body remaining in the library, blood-drops falling from the weapon on this drawing-room floor as he hastily crossed it, and the escape over the wall of the garden."

"But, monsieur," said the Prefect of Police, "where is the motive? The writers on the value of indicatory evidences, in the investigation of a criminal case, tell us that there should be time, opportunity and motive. The time, monsieur, and the opportunity are here, plainly indicated; but the motive? Where shall we look for that?"

The Oriental turned, as with an inspiration, in his chair.

"Why, monsieur," he said, "you spoke at considerable length upon the motive. You seemed to know it quite well. You concealed, as you have indicated, the somewhat mysterious evidence of it in your hand."

"Quite true, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police, "but you will observe that it is I who am familiar with this motive. It is I who have what you are pleased to call 'this concrete evidence' in my hand. And that brings me to an interesting hypothesis with three phases to be considered. Let us consider them, monsieur. I name them in the order in which they occur to me: first, monsieur, that I killed the man; second, that you killed him; and third, that the agency that killed Dernburg Pasha is no longer living in this world."

He continued like one who recites the details of a formula:

"I find my theory also confirmed at a further point. You explained to me, when I inquired, that the assassin, after fleeing through this drawing room into the walled garden, had escaped by climbing over that wall, since the gate was nailed up and had been so nailed up for a long time. Now, monsieur, I caused that wall to be examined. The whole of the top of it is coated over with dust. At no point has any of this dust been removed; consequently the assassin did not escape by climbing over the wall, for if he had undertaken to climb the wall at any point, his body, in that labor, would have removed the coating of dust. You see, monsieur, I do not find your indicatory evidences designed to support your theory. They seem rather conclusively to establish my own."

He made a vague gesture, as though to dismiss the matter.

"And so, monsieur, we find ourselves before the triangular hypothesis! Did I murder Dernburg Pasha, or did you, or was he, in fact, murdered at all?"

The Oriental looked at the man in a sort of wonder.

"He was surely murdered," he said.

The Prefect of Police spoke like one in some reflection.

"It is by no means certain."

"Not certain?" echoed the Envoy.

"The man is dead!"

"One may be dead without having been murdered," replied the Prefect of Police. "It is possible that the hand that gave Dernburg Pasha his fatal wound is no longer alive in this world."

The Turkish Envoy made an exclamation of surprise that Dernburg Pasha was murdered by a dead man!

The concluding installment of this adventure of M. Jonquelle will appear in our next issue.

YOUTH PAINFULLY BURNED WHEN GAS TANK EXPLODES

Alman Blankenship, fifteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Blankenship, Paxton street, was painfully burned about the face on Wednesday night when a gasoline tank on an old car of the family exploded, after young Blankenship had struck a match to make light by which to draw gas from the tank for another purpose.

The youth was reported last night to be resting more comfortably although the burns are quite painful. Although one of his eyes is closed by swelling, the attending physician reports that he will not lose his eyesight, also that the other burns about the face are not of a serious nature.

Wednesday night about 8:30 o'clock the youth went into the garage for the purpose of securing a small amount of gasoline to pour into some sort of lamp, which he possessed. Knowing that there was but little if any gasoline in the tank of the car which had been idle for some time, the youth cautiously struck a match that he might see how to withdraw the gas. An explosion took place immediately and the flames met the youth fairly in the face, inflicting painful burns. There was but little gas in the tank and the fire was soon extinguished with little damage to the car.

NATION'S WILD LIFE RESOURCES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The nation's wild life resources—game-furbearing animals and birds—capitalized on the basis of a six per cent. annual income, represent a sum possibly exceeding $1,000,000,000 and through intelligent management are capable of a great increase, Dr. J. W. Nelson, chief of the biological survey states in his annual report made public today.

Certain forms of wild life, annual destroy forage crops and other property exceeding $500,000,000 in value, a loss, which Mr. Nelson says, may be largely prevented by properly directed public stock killing wolves, house rat, the parrot dog and others are included in the destructive class and the biological survey is directing its energies to their eradication.

The Oriental turned suddenly, his face contracted and tense, but his voice firm.

"Very well, monsieur," he said; "whither do these suggestions lead you?"

Jonquelle continued in an even voice.

"To arrive at that," he said, "we must first consider the evidence which has led you to believe that Dernburg was killed by the man with whom he quarreled last night in the library. Now, if you please, monsieur, we will look a little at the indicatory signs."

He paused.

"There is always this disturbing feature about circumstantial evidence, the trick of pointing in the direction that one is going. If one has a conclusion, one will find that the circumstantial evidence supports it. I conclude, therefore, monsieur, that this visitor was Dernburg's assassin, and consequently, to you, the indicatory evidence supports that theory. But, monsieur, I have the theory that the visitor was not the assassin, and I bid you observe how the indicatory evidences will turn themselves about in order to support the theory which I maintain. Take, for example, these blood-drops on the checkered floor of the drawing room in support of your theory: they have fallen by hazard from the assassin's knife in his flight, and you would cite them as confirmatory of your theory."

"Now, monsieur, I would cite them also as confirmatory of mine."

"You will observe that each of these seven blood-drops has fallen on a white square of this checkered marble floor. There is no drop of blood on a black square. Why, monsieur, should these drops appear only on the white squares? I consider that fact with my theory in mind, and I conclude that they so appear because the one who placed them there wished them to be seen. We cannot conceive that he would undertake to create evidence against himself. And it is beyond our conception of coincidences that each of these seven blood-drops should, by accident, have fallen precisely on a white square when there was an equal number of black squares intervening. Therefore, monsieur, these evidences did not come by chance; they came by design."

He continued like one who recites the details of a formula:

"I find my theory also confirmed at a further point. You explained to me, when I inquired, that the assassin, after fleeing through this drawing room into the walled garden, had escaped by climbing over that wall, since the gate was nailed up and had been so nailed up for a long time. Now, monsieur, I caused that wall to be examined. The whole of the top of it is coated over with dust. At no point has any of this dust been removed; consequently the assassin did not escape by climbing over the wall, for if he had undertaken to climb the wall at any point, his body, in that labor, would have removed the coating of dust. You see, monsieur, I do not find your indicatory evidences designed to support your theory. They seem rather conclusively to establish my own."

He made a vague gesture, as though to dismiss the matter.

"And so, monsieur, we find ourselves before the triangular hypothesis! Did I murder Dernburg Pasha, or did you, or was he, in fact, murdered at all?"

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH
SWANSEA, N. C., Dec. 7.—(By the Associated Press).—Reaching a decision to hold their 1923 convention in Chicago, provided Commissioner Landis calls a joint meeting of the minor leagues there at the same time, the minor leagues here tonight without any more trades or sales being made.

The decision to hold the convention next year at the same time of the joint session was the result of a suggestion by Commissioner Landis, who informed the minor leagues of his desire to have all of the baseball leaders together in the same city at one time. If the major leagues do not hold a joint session, however, the minors will meet in Nashville, Tenn.

The constitution of the association provided that the annual meeting shall be held in the city belonging to a minor league, but this was amended so the meetings could be held in Chicago in conjunction with the majors.

Secretary John H. Farrell and President M. R. Sexton were authorized to select the city for the 1923 convention and they assured Commissioner Landis that his wishes that a meeting be held along with the majors would be respected.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment is a Brisk Purgative With Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablet called Calomel, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calomels on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no slightest interference with your eating pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calomels are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package, ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size—adv.

A Twist of His Cap And, Presto, He's King!

BY GENE COHN
NEA Staff Correspondent.

S. W. JONES

Over a vast area of 5,000 square miles the name of Jones was not the commonplace indicated by any American city directory. On the contrary, it might have been "King" Jones insofar as weight and influence are concerned.

Jones is back now after 11 years in the largest Malay district populated by Javanese, Malays, and Chinese, to say nothing of aboriginal

"Oh, I am a cook and captain tain bold, And the mate of the Nancy brig; And a b'oun tight, and a mid- And the crew of the captain's gig." —From "The Yarn of the Nancy Bell."

Sakal—whatever they may be. He is going back to England, whence he started out as district "political officer."

These, he recites, were a few of the duties involved:

As chief of police he must later turn round his hat to become magistrate at hearings. Another twist and he is postmaster. The arrival of a ship finds him collector of customs. As money is recognized, he becomes treasurer during the morning and attends to checks and various financial matters.

The job of chief of sanitation, in a country where sanitary conditions seldom bothered anyone, gave him a great deal of trouble. But somehow he found time to be revenue collector. And if he moved fast enough he was likely to catch up to himself going to work as chairman of the licensing board.

"There were a number of minor positions involved, also," he adds. When it is considered that this is the country from which comes 50 per cent. of tin and rubber in the world, the various posts of Mr. Jones will be seen to involve more than the "comic opera" situation suggested in their listing.

"However, I have found it rather pleasant," says Jones.

Samuel H. Miller Expires Suddenly At Lynchburg, Va.

A telegram received by Mrs. James H. Wilson, of this city, yesterday from Lynchburg, Va., announced the sudden death at his home there of Samuel Hartshorn Miller, her uncle, a veteran journalist and one of the two oldest persons in Lynchburg, the other being his surviving brother, William H. Miller, now 86 years old. Samuel H. Miller would have been 90 years old had he lived until March 25th, next.

Death came to this aged, beloved and honored Virginian so quietly and so suddenly in the early afternoon as he sat alone in his room, that none was aware of his passing until some half hour later when a member of his devoted family made the sad discovery. The aged man had raised the lower sash of the window beside which he was seated, obviously in an instinctive craving for fresh air, and his lifeless body was found in the chair soon after his heart ceased to beat.

Mr. Miller had been totally blind from his youth until his death at the age of four score and ten. Despite this handicap, he had become one of the most learned and cultured men in Va., and had an active and powerful intellect, remarkable for its longevity.

SIMMONS-SYDNOR

MOUNT AIRY, Dec. 7.—The wedding of Miss Margaret Sydney, of Mount Airy, only daughter of William Granville Sydney, to Richard Morgan Simmons, of Martinsville, Va., which was solemnized tonight at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist church at Mount Airy, was characterized by rare beauty and stately dignity.

The church was lovely in its bridal decorations of green and white. The altar was massed with palms, ferns and graceful southern smilax, against a background of white, while floor baskets filled with gorgeous white chrysanthemums, and graduated tiers of lighted white cathedral candles added to the artistic effect.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Donna Bolt beautifully rendered an organ solo, "Oh, Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," which was followed by Rev. Eugene Olive, in his deep rich voice. The triumphant tones of the Bridal Chorus from "The Rose Maiden," sung by a trained chorus, preceded the entrance of the bride party. The wedding march from Lohengrin was used as a processional and Mendelssohn's march as the recessional.

The ushers, William Sydney, L. A. O'Brien, of Winston-Salem, Harrison Williamson, Murray Whittle, of Martinsville, Va., J. H. Fywn and Dr. L. Williams, entered from opposite aisles taking their places before the altar. They were followed by the groomsmen, Frank Wilson, of Fair-dale, Va., Robert Walker, of Martinsville, Va., Kyle Sydney, of Blair Hines and James Hale; and the bridesmaids, Misses Marion Prather, Anna Simmons, Jamie Hadley, Alice Simmons, Mary Thompson and Anna Reagons of orchid chiffon over gold cloth with gold lace trimmings, and carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Evelyn Fawcett, wearing a dainty frock of white chiffon, acted as flower girl, entering just before the bride, and scattering yellow rose petals in her pathway.

The bride entered with her father, William Granville Sydney, and was given to him in marriage. She was given to the altar by the groom, and his best man, John Simmons, of Martinsville, and the impressive vows of the Baptist church were said before her pastor, Rev. Eugene Olive, while Miss Bolt played very softly Nivins' Venetian song.

Mrs. Simmons is strikingly beautiful, and is one of Mount Airy's most cultured and charming young women. She is the possessor of a happy and lovable disposition and has the faculty to make friends easily and to keep them always. She was educated at Randolph-Macon institute, Danville, and St. Mary's, Raleigh.

Mr. Simmons is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Simmons, of Martinsville, Va., and is a successful young business man of Martinsville, being engaged in the manufacture of furniture. He made his home in Mount Airy for a number of years, and is popular both in North Carolina and Virginia.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Simmons are prominently connected in North Carolina and Virginia, and their wedding is of wide social interest. After a wedding trip of several weeks to points in Florida, the newlyweds will make their home in Martinsville, Va., at the Henry hotel.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons were the honor guests at a brilliant reception, given by Mr. Sydney, in the parlors of the Blue Ridge hotel.

Paris Burglar Dons Armor; He Is Foiled

PARIS, Dec. 7.—Monsieur Tiercelette, the grizzled little man who keeps the old curiosity shop in the rue Vieille-du-Temple, was awakened by the metallic clank of footsteps in the antique store beneath his bedroom. The heavy tread of steel-shod feet grated and creaked to the stairs then the door opened and a man in armor, toward Tiercelette's bedroom. Tiercelette hobbled to his bed and with trembling fingers lighted the candle. At the head of the stairs the flickering light of the favorite antique, a genuine suit of fifteenth century armor, which with rusty creaking was slowly mounting the steps.

Ghost Loses Joust

It was an unequal encounter, but Tiercelette was not a knight to shrink a jot, even against odds. With the bravery of Don Quixote he seized a broom and poked at the oncoming medieval apparition. The ghost threw up his hand to ward off the broom, lost his balance, tottered and then crashed down the steps with the din of a cockstove on a rampage falling downstairs.

Tiercelette hobbled to the bottom of the steps and put his foot on his vanquished foe. He would have kicked him, but he feared for the effect of the steel plate upon his bare toes. "Help!" screamed the armor.

"Get up!" commanded the victorious Tiercelette.

"I can't; I'm wedged in. The joints are so rusty I can't move my feet," the armor groaned.

Tiercelette called a gendarme. Yes, even at this hour in the morning one can find a policeman—for this happened in Paris. With the help of the policeman, a screw driver and a hammer, Tiercelette succeeded in removing most of the tinware—all except the breastplate and corselet, the combination lock of which had been badly jammed in the fall. So they loaded him into the patrol wagon and carried the canned burglar to the prefecture of police.

Can Opener Fails

The matron of the police station, fered a can opener, but it didn't make a dent in the cost-of-mail. Groans of pain were the only answer the erring knight errant made to the desk sergeant's questions as to why he had broken into the antique shop and the armor. It was impossible to remove a locksmith at this hour in the morning, so the man-at-arms slept the best he could sitting up in the corner of his cell. Several safe-cracking cellmates offered their services through the bars—but nobody could solve the medieval combination with his bare fingers.

The next morning the police matron lifted off the rest of the armor, and Octave Denize, for such was his name, was haled before the police judge, charged with burglary. Monsieur Tiercelette insisted that Octave explain what he meant by wearing a perfectly good suit of armor only five hundred years old.

"I had heard that you are a miser," confessed Denize. "I thought if your armor appeared to you in the middle of the night and demanded why you keep your hidden gold you could roll out of bed in fear and I could snatch the money from under your pillow."

"Three years!" decided the judge.

cal processes and its admirable poise. His reading, of course, had to be done for him by another, but his trained memory enabled him to grasp and retain not only the logical sequence of ideas, but much of the language of the text-writer as he listened. By aid of a reader and amanuensis, he was enabled to do a great deal of work until a few years ago when the infirmities incident to his advanced age and his voluntary retirement from regular employment, enabled him to rest, but without being idle. To the last he retained an acute and intelligent interest in the day's news, in world development and in the best literature of all the ages.

Founder and for many years editor and owner of the Campbell county Record, he removed to Lynchburg nearly or quite forty years ago and was for years editorial writer on the Daily Advance and for a time a contributor to the editorial columns of the News also. His style was clear and forceful, but always deferential and respectful of the opinions of others. His wide and accurate range of information and his extensive vocabulary, vivacity of thought and grace of diction combined to render his work admirable and influential.

Mr. Miller is survived by his brothers, William A. Miller, near-centen-arian; Professor Thomas C. Miller, for a third of a century or more a teacher in the Lynchburg High school, and by his own children—Mrs. William A. Woodruff with whom he was making his home; Mrs. Ellen Foster, Giles H. Miller, a prominent Virginia banker and Ferdinand Miller, all of Lynchburg.

The funeral services of this venerable and distinguished man will take place at 10.30 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning from the Central Hill Baptist church, of which for many years he had been an official member and a Sunday school teacher. Mr. Miller was for years a valuable member of the Board of Visitors of the Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind at Staunton and had won public recognition for his worth and his capacity for valuable service from many agencies and organizations.

INAUGURAL OF JACK WALTON TO BE UNIQUE ONE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 7.—An inaugural celebration which, by way of contrast, and largely because it is to be staged with simplicity as its keynote, will make Oklahoma City's elite of four hundred snap with astonishment in the near future, it is believed.

For Oklahoma's Governor-elect, J. C. ("Jack") Walton Democrat, wants it thoroughly understood that he desires no frills or ostentation of any sort at the inaugural "hall." Oklahomaans can leave the full dress suit and the evening gowns packed snugly away in the trunk and make their pilgrimage to the State Capitol building attired in plain work-a-day clothes the evening of January 8 and yet will be sure of admission to the festivities according to Walton.

The programme for the evening, according to the arrangement committee, will consist largely of a barbecue and an old-fashioned square dance. Conservative estimates as to the probable attendance place the number of people at about 250,000 at the very least. Railroads have planned to offer special excursion rates for the occasion, and this procedure is expected to materially swell the throngs who will wend their way to the Capitol.

Walton, who was elected as the Chief Executive on a former labor coalition platform, dislikes effecation and pompous conventional display as he puts it, while conversing with newspapermen about his plans for his inauguration. "The less grandeur for this occasion the better. But I hope everyone who attends will enjoy himself. Let joy reign unconfined."

Tinged with a reminiscence of pioneer days the affair is expected to prove enjoyable to those who desire a glimpse of by-gone days. Cowboys and Indians will add to the richness of the spectacle. Dances in native garb, feathered blankets and all—Cherokee Indians will engage in tribal dances to the music of tom-toms around campfires near the Capitol.

The barbecue will be held at the Oklahoma State Fair grounds according to Dan Lackey head of the committee of arrangements. 3,000 steers will be barbecued. Donations have been made daily. Local bakers have agreed to contribute thousands of loaves of bread. Other foodstuffs, delicacies, such as reindeer meat, buffalo bear meat, squirrel opossum, quail and pigeon will decorate the festive "board" to whet the appetite of the connoisseur.

Strange sounds will reverberate through the spacious halls of the Capitol building where the square dance will be in full blast. Old-time dances "fiddlers" have been engaged to gladden the hearts of devotees of the "De-se-do-swing your partner—all the men left and circle around" dance with their efforts. The "floor" will easily accommodate 5,000 dancers.

Rumors has it that numerous women have written to Walton requesting that he be "considerate" and grant them the pleasure of the square dance with him.

The inaugural promises to be quite an arid celebration. Walton is an ardent supporter of the Volstead act and has announced that he does not want "any drinking at his inaugural." To accomplish this he has forwarded instructions to police officers to "clean up the city and keep it clean." Walton is Mayor of this municipality at the present time.

Some fifteen years ago he was a railroad conductor and a short time later became a locomotive engineer. At one time in his varied career he was a special engineer for former President Porfirio Diaz, of Mexico.

FRANCHISE STILL IN NEWPORT NEWS

NEWPORT NEWS Va. Dec. 7.—News from Wilmington, N. C., has been received to the effect that the city has refused the Newport News franchise in the Virginia League and as Petersburg not yet has taken the franchise, Newport News still is included in the league.

H. P. Dawson, owner of the local team could not be reached last night. He offered the franchise to this city, prior to placing it on the market. He has stated, it is understood, that he would not operate the team in Newport News next season. It is probable that local interests may take up the matter again and negotiate with Mr. Dawson for its purchase.

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells. S. S. S. builds them by the millions! You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digging tortures and its soul-tearing, torturable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the millions! It has been doing it since 1824! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders. Blood-cleansers and body-builders known to no mortal! When you put these facts together, then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and in a few days it was all over. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

JOHNSON WONT CHANGE DATE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Officials of the New York club of the American League have tried without success, they asserted today, to induce B. B. (Ban) Johnson, league president, to comply with the Commissioner's lands for a joint meeting in New York on Thursday of the American and National Leagues.

The only concession Johnson would make, they declared, was an offer to advance until Tuesday, December 12, the meeting of the American League, which he had ordered held at Chicago next Wednesday. He refused absolutely to change the meeting place from Chicago to New York, holding the change in date would enable those who wish to do so to attend the joint session with Lands, after going to Chicago.

Ivory Garters are long-life elastic all the way around. No dead cloth—no ready-shaped pads. And hence—Ivories do not bind the leg. They shape themselves to the shape of your leg, and hold your socks up perfectly.

BAN JOHNSON EXPLAINS HIT GIVEN TO COBB

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—President Johnson of the American League today gave out the explanation of his ruling allowing the disputed hit to Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Americans, which made Cobb's 1922 batting average .491. This makes his third year over .400 and tied the major league record.

"The official score of the game of May 12 was not authenticated," President Johnson said in a statement given out as a reply to an inquiry from Brooklyn. Reports that the Baseball Writers' Association of New York was preparing a formal protest overruling the official score also were received at league headquarters. Mr. Johnson is in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

President Johnson's statement explained an arrangement made by the American League official statistician for cooperation with the Associated Press in checking box scores from all American League parks.

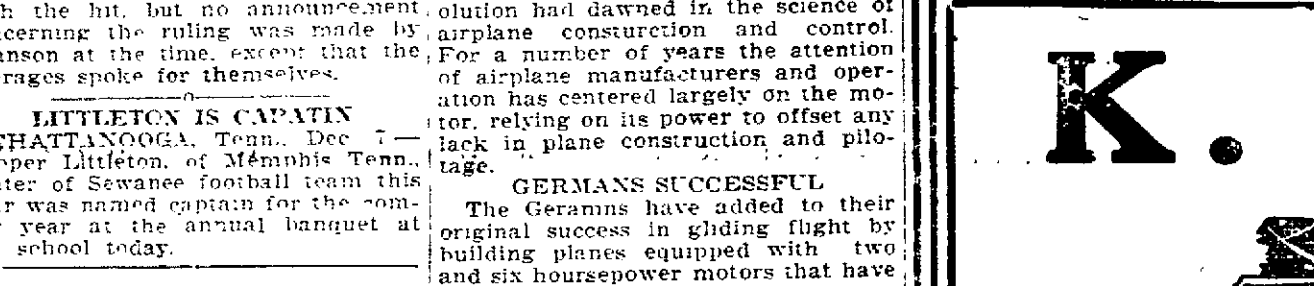

"This provision was carried out in the game in question and Cobb credited with a hit," the statement said. "If a change in the box score was made it was without notice to the Associated Press and the American League official statistician sensibly accepted the Associated Press account."

Reports from New York that the official scorer reversed his decision were unsubstantiated at the American League headquarters here and it was said that no poll of baseball writers who witnessed the play was taken.

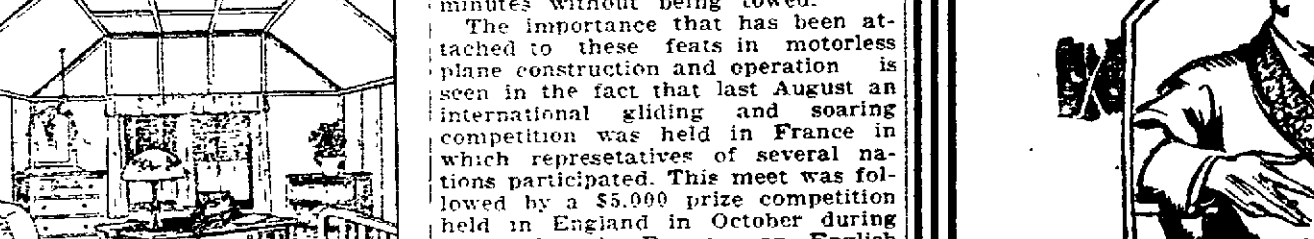

The official batting averages issued December 4 showed Cobb credited with the hit, but no announcement concerning the ruling was made by Johnson at the time, except that the averages spoke for themselves.

SIKI REITERATES CHARGES MADE ABOUT FIGHT

PARIS, Dec. 7.—(By The Associated Press.)—In a letter addressed to the French press, "Batling" Siki, the Senegalese fighter, today reiterated the charges which he made exclusively to the Associated Press last Monday—that the fight between Siki and Georges Carpentier, which was won by the negro, had been "fixed."

"The match was fixed," says Siki's letter, "and I could not avoid it until I got into the ring. But now I will push matters before the courts. I never received the amount of money I was entitled to from the stakes."

"But I am merely a plain fighter; don't ask me to be a lawyer. From now on I will have nothing further to say. I must refer you to my lawyer, M. Delmont, and to Deputy Deagne."

The French Boxing Federation has decided to make a complete investigation of the arrangements preceding the fight. It has named a sub-committee which has been invested with unlimited powers for the collection of evidence and taking of testimony.

Although Siki had declared he would talk no more, except through his attorney and Senator Deagne, nevertheless, when seen this evening he said:

"Carpentier was one of the easiest marks I had met in my career. He never had any business in the same ring with Jack Dempsey."

The American public has been imposed upon the same as has the French public, and there are surely ten heavy-weights in America who can knock Georges for a goal. Marcel Nilles is a much tougher man than Carpentier. Georges knows very well he is taking no chances in challenging me for a return match, for I am disqualified now and cannot fight for months."

HONOLULU, Dec. 7.—Schiffel's Barracks, the largest army post in the territory and one of Uncle Sam's biggest army camps, has started a "West Point" school of its own. The school is operated much as the original, conforming in general ground plan, building style and architecture to the mainland college. More than 20 enlisted men have been chosen from the Hawaiian departments to start study and training preparatory to taking the entrance examinations of the famous military academy.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga., adv.

Facial Blemishes

Sallow, muddy, roughened or blotched complexions are usually due to constipation.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

High Shades Are Seen in New Frocks

Velvet first. Shown in the back of black and in soft-hued, complicated Paisley patterns. These are most popular, but no silk with the slightest pretence to a crinkle in its weave is out of the running. Paisley printed crepes are the season's best sellers.

Chiffon. Most fashionable for evening wear in high shades, of course. Velvet. Seen only in back and blue, but very popular for afternoon frocks.

Charmeuse. A new incarnation of this heavy, supple silk that used to be black or brown and is now all the colors of a futurist sunset.

WEALTHY TOBACCO MAN IS TRIED FOR SANITY

MOCKSVILLE, Dec. 7.—For the second time in his life the question of the sanity of W. B. Ellis, Sr., wealthy Winston-Salem tobacco dealer and manufacturer, was placed in the hands of a jury here today, and tonight they were still out debating the evidence that has been laid before them during the past three days. Mr. Ellis was declared insane by the courts of New York 19 years ago.

Twenty years ago Mr. Ellis was one of the leading figures in the city of Winston-Salem, a successful, though highly successful, in his business. After much of his property had been conveyed by deed to his wife, he was declared insane by a New York court and committed to the insane ward of the Bellevue Hospital. Ten months later he escaped and made his way back to Canada.

After a time he returned to the United States and quietly settled in York, Pa. He again engaged in the tobacco business, and in the course of the next 15 years, amassed a comfortable fortune. Meanwhile his wife and son, W. B. Ellis, Jr., lived in Greenville, S. C. The son visited his father and thinking him entirely sane, asked him to come back home and let the family be reunited. Mr. Ellis declined.

Three years ago he did return to North Carolina, but to his brother's farm in this county, and after a residence here of several months, applied to the Clerk of the Court for restoration of his citizenship, and that he be declared sane. The clerk denied him of sound mind and established him a citizen of this county. He returned to Winston-Salem to re-enter his old business.

The question before the jury is one of citizenship. He has been declared insane in the State of New York, and is a fugitive from an institution there at this time. He has been declared sane in North Carolina and his citizenship restored. If he maintains the citizenship, he is sane in this State, though he is insane in New York. The younger Ellis is employed in a very responsible capacity by the Southern Power Company.

MINNEAPOLIS SELECTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Minneapolis was selected today as the meeting place of the next annual convention of the National Insurance Commissioners. The selection was made at the closing of the body's three days convention. No date was fixed.

The question of holding a spring meeting was left to the executive committee, although it was decided that if this session is called, it will be in Richmond.

The closing session was taken up with routine business.

Gov. Allen Will Fight Kansas Illiteracy Hard

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 7.—Now that the time is nearing when he will loosen his hold upon the executive reins of the "Sunflower" State, Gov. Henry J. Allen has started a drive which he hopes will ultimately stamp illiteracy entirely from the State. Not that Kansas' percentage of illiteracy is necessarily high—in fact, a recent census revealed that it is only 1.6, compared with one other State which, the census showed, has a percentage of 21.3.

Gov. Allen pointed out that the near future will see laws enacted in the State Legislature which will provide dissemination of knowledge in the remote country districts—the towns, hamlets and villages which are more or less segregated from the big industrial centres.

Statistics compiled recently disclosed that out of a total of more than 2,000 illiterate persons in Kansas above the age of ten nearly 21,000 were those of voting age. It was further revealed that of these illiterates 19,450 were of foreign parentage, and more than 4,000 are negroes.

Native sons and daughters of Kansas point with pride to the fact that in the last twelve years there has been a decrease of .6 per cent. in illiteracy in their State, while census figures from several other states for that period indicate a slight increase in ignorance.

During the World War, when men were inducted into the military service of the nation, the various tests to determine and sift out the illiterates revealed some significant figures as to the number of men throughout the country who were not even able to read or write their own names, according to Governor Allen. These tests revealed that 75 per cent. of America's "flower of manhood" were among the mediocre intelligent, while nearly 25 per cent. failed to pass the simplest tests and were classified as illiterates.

The Governor expressed himself as hopeful that his efforts to increase the intelligence of Kansas' future men and women should have the support of those who succeed him in office and that they would "carry on" the battle to such an extent that Kansas will within the next few years be an exemplary state—a pattern of "better education."

CO-OP TAX CASES IN BEFORE THE BUREAU

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The internal revenue bureau is expected soon to decide whether and under what conditions co-operative marketing associations must pay income taxes on dividends which they receive from such organizations. Such income, heretofore, had been exempt but attempts to collect the taxes in Kansas have met with protest and a request for final decision by the bureau was made today by John Tromble, president and G. E. Brasted, secretary, of the Farmers Union of Kansas.

While an official statement was forthcoming from the office of Commissioner Blair there were indications that the exemption would be made a permanent part of the internal revenue regulations. The stand taken by union officials was that to require tax returns on such forms of income would mean double taxation, inasmuch they said, as the co-operative association's income as a corporation, is taxable.

Criticism has been directed at Harvey M. Moore, collector of internal revenue for the district of Kansas, who the Farmers Union officials claimed, had attempted to enforce payment of taxes on incomes which members received from their co-operative associations. This criticism, however, was declared by Senators Curtis and Capper of Kansas who accompanied the union officials to the treasury, to have been misdirected because the treasury department had acted through a special agent.

Officials of the bureau were said tonight to be going over the entire record in the case which included taxes from 1917 to 1920, inclusive. As soon as that is done, it was indicated, a ruling would be forthcoming.

PROSPECTS FOR WHITE XMAS IN SEATTLE

By PAUL C. HENRICK.

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Prospects for a white Christmas in Seattle, a rather unusual happening, become better today with a fall of snow which covers the upper hill districts with a white blanket. This came just at a time when coal dealers had announced a cut of $2 a ton to stimulate buying.

The late fall and warm early December has helped most merchandise buyers except shoes. The rush of holiday buying was on before the season was fully ready for it. Checks on department store made today indicate the gross turnover this year during the holiday season will be the largest Seattle has had since 1919.

Finds Wife Is Not An Adding Machine

Now Ex-Widow With Six Children and Real Estate Seeks Divorce.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—And now it is the mathematical marriage, in which a wife is pictured as the least common denominator, with emphasis on the last.

The fractions consist of a husband and six children, or one-sixth, and all money which at present is 0-2000.

Mixing in a little algebra, "x" as usual being the unknown quantity, there is the following equation: "A" plus "B" equals "C" minus "X."

Considering that "A" is husband, "B" wife and "C" money, Justice Kapper has to solve the marital problem not by multiplying the means and extremes but by resorting to trigonometry and calculus if he is to make "X" equal happiness.

It seems that Julius Berman, a widower with six children and real estate, married to get a mate who could figure up first and second mortgages with Euclidian-like precision—that his wife old him she was on speaking terms with QED and most certainly intimate with addition and subtraction.

Berman in effect said he wanted an adding machine, so he got married. He told the court:

"My wife falsely and fraudulently represented that she was a fit person to manage financial matters, and so we were married. As a matter of fact, she is not. She cannot be trusted even with a half-dollar because she does not know how much to pay the butcher and how much change she should receive. As soon as I found out she was unfit to disburse funds, I refused to live with her and refused to take her into my household."

Mrs. Berman, who is fighting proceedings to have the marriage annulled, said that while not an expert mathematician, she knew a log table had nothing to do with wood. She added:

"He left me, I think, because he found a woman who knows more arithmetic than I do. All the mathematics required for the wife of a man of his type is to know how to buy the necessities of life. I want alimony and counsel fees pending trial of the suit in which I stand ready to prove I know more about the three R's than my husband."

"I must have time to think this over," said the judge. "It is a long time since I went to school."

Becker Will Know Fate Before Jan. 1

"Pit Murder" Principals to Plead Today—Cohn to Urge Trial Within Few Days.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Within three weeks the fate of Abraham Becker, charged with responsibility for the Bronx "pit murder," will have been decided.

The momentum gathered by the case since the discovery of the body of Becker's wife, Jennie, in the lot owned by Reuben Norkin, 12th street and Southern Boulevard, is rushing it along at a high speed.

Becker and Norkin will appear before Judge Gibbs in the Bronx county courthouse today to plead to the indictments charging them with first degree murder. Albert Cohn, Acting District Attorney, will request the court to have the case against Becker go to trial within a few days. Some delay must be granted to the defendant's counsel.

"But I am ready to go to trial at once," Mr. Cohn said yesterday. "There are a number of other murder cases on the calendar, but I shall ask to have this take precedence over every other case."

Before the end of the month, it is expected the trial will have been completed and Becker's fate decided. The trial of Norkin will not take place until after that of Becker. It is understood that Norkin's confession, in which he charges Becker aided the killing while he stood by and watched, will not be permitted to give him any leniency at the hands of the District Attorney's office.

The case, in the opinion of the authorities, is "cleaned up." Nothing remains to be done except to establish the motive for Norkin's complicity in the murder, and whether or not either of the men has been implicated in any other murders.

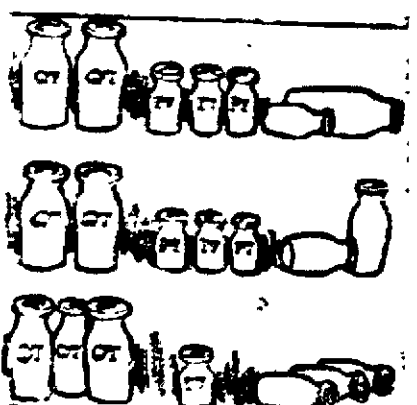

The disappearance of Fanny Bloom, seven years ago, while she was working for Norkin's mother, now dead, will be investigated by Mr. Cohn. Relatives of the missing girl will be questioned by him today to determine whether Norkin might have had any connection with her sudden disappearance.

Rumors that other bodies of murdered persons are buried in the Norkin lot are also being run down. Every precaution is being taken to prevent either person injuring himself. Even the shoelaces of Becker and Norkin have been taken away, for fear they might seek to hang themselves. Wooden eating utensils are given them at meal time.

U. OF RICHMOND WANTS BUILDING

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 7.—A campaign is to be waged here soon by the University of Richmond to raise $4,000,000 for new buildings and to increase the present endowment. The president, Frederick W. Boatwright, says that it is imperative that five new buildings be provided for the institution at once—one dormitory for the college for women, one for the men, a science hall, a law school building and a social service building. For the last two years the institution has been compelled to close its doors to students demanding admission, there being no room and the present buildings being crowded to capacity. It is hoped to get half of this sum in hand the coming summer and to have ground broken for the new structures in the fall.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Sam Simpson worked hard. All day long he carried heavy iron baulks and girders to and fro. Towards morning he said to the foreman, who was a no-torious slave driver: "Boss, you am squah got me down on dat pay-roll, yeh?"

The foreman glanced at the list.

"Yes," he said sternly, "here you are—Sam Simpson. That's right isn't it?"

"Yess, boss, but Ah thought mebbe yuh done gone got me down dah as Samson."
